YOU'RE INVITED...

To apply for Treaty Creek-Wabash River Costshare program funds!

If your property is within the orange shaded area on the map, you are eligible for cost-share funds. Landowners in critical areas of the Treaty Creek-Wabash River Watershed are eligible to apply for cost-share funding to implement best management practices. Eligible practices include those that will reduce loading of Nitrogen and Phosphorus E. coli, and Total Suspended Solids in water runoff.

Eligibility—Your practice must be installed in a critical area (orange) of the Treaty Creek-Wabash watershed. Contact your local office to discuss MRBI funds (gray).

To Apply—Application packets are available at your local NRCS and SWCD Offices. They are also available to download from our website.

Ranking & Review—The Treaty Creek-Wabash River Technical Steering Committee will review, rank, and approve installation of BMPs according to NRCS standards. Site visits may be part of the review process.

Permits for BMPs—Any required permits will be the responsibility of the property owner.

Maintaining BMPs— Recipients will operate and maintain all BMPs according to the following schedule: vegetative practices for 5 years, cover crops for 1 year, and structural BMPs for 10 years.

Deadlines—Applications are accepted on a monthly basis, and should be submitted by the first of each month to be considered at that month's meeting.

Notification & Reimbursement—Recipients will be notified by letter or email. Cost-share funds are paid after installation of practices and all invoices have been received. Reimbursement takes approximately eight (8) weeks after paperwork and invoices have been received. This program will fund up to 75% of the total cost for eligible practices as listed at wabashriverdefenders.org
